Who do you learn from in RRISD?

Becky Donald Area Superintendent

When sharing your knowledge and experience with others, what is one thing you always try to keep in mind?

Everyone comes to the table with knowledge and experiences and I believe that we can always learn from each other. Listening to others is a powerful leadership tool.

What resource do you access most often for your own learning?

When I want to research a topic and don't have a lot of time, I use scholar.google.com instead of Google.com. This gives me a place to start and then I can reach out to my network of professional educators to continue my professional growth.

What is a life hack that has changed your life?

Working out everyday. Whether it is a long walk, fun run, or a full gym workout it helps with stress and focus my energy on what is important.

Who is someone you learn from?

This is a hard question to answer because I work with so many amazing principals, Area Superintendents, Dr. Presley and Dr. Flores but if I had to pick the one person that has taught me life lessons in building relationships, listening skills, and the "you can do anything you set your mind to" is my Mother.

Name one thing you've learned recently that you're really excited to share with others.

I am reading Multiple Intelligences in the Classroom and it supports using MI teaching strategies for all learners such as collaborative groups, peer sharing, simulations, and one-minute reflective periods. These are not new strategies but the book supports the "Why" and benefits to student growth. Student voice is a powerful tool for students and teachers.
